to join the Catholic Church. After being received fato it, he went to St. Joseph's Seminary, at Fordham, then directed by Seminary, at Fordham, then directed by the Jesuits, and was ordained priest by Archbishop Hughes on Jan. 29, 1853. He was first assigned to duty in St. Peter's Church, in Barclay street, but remained only a few months, when he was stationed at St. Joseph's Church as assistant. In 1854 he was appointed assistant at the Nativity. He became pastor on the resignation of Rev. George McCloskey in 1869.

He asked about three years ago to be relieved from duty on account of his age. The Archbishop asked him to remain connected with the church as long as he aved, and created him pastor emeritus, the first instance of the kind in this city, and appointed the Rev. William Murphy active pastor. Father Everett, notwithstanding his advanced age, is still active, and performs the regular duties connected with the church. "We have been driving about the city. I don't know where," she sobbed, "and during the time he has made frequent improper advances. While passing along One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, at Amsterdam avenue, he grossly insulted me, and then I began to cry for help." Roundsman Masterson waited for no further explanation. He took the party to the station-house. There the driver of cab 660 was able to show his innocence of any wrong doing and was allowed to go. Mr. Orr, when seen this morning, was reticent. He admitted that a meeting was held, but wanted it understood that the gentlemen met as individuals, and not as representatives of the Chamber of Commerce. "The Chamber of Commerce," said he, "is a commercial body. Politics is excluded from its deliberations. A num-ber of gentlemen held a conference. The subject discussed was private, and I am not at liberty to state what took place."

Among those present, besides Mr. Orr, were Weedbury Langdon, R. T. Wilson, Solon Humphreys, John H. Inman, Hugh N. Camp and Gustav H. Schwab, Mr. Orr intimated that the meeting Mr. Orr intimated that the meeting was not as representative as was expected, and he left the reporter to infer that another caucus would be held later on, when a larger attendance could be secured, most of the prominent members of the Chamber being out of town at the present time.

In whose interest the members of the Chamber of Commerce are acting was not revealed. No names were mentioned.

The Republican County Committee, at The Republican County Committee, at its meeting on Friday night, adopted a resolution inviting all anti-Tammany factions to appoint committees to consult with the Republicans about a combination ticket. It is assumed that the gentlemen belonging to the Ghamber of Commerce had advance knowledge of the resolution and acted early and promptly.

Lexow Saloonkeeper Witness Held for Excise Law Breaking.

Was His Own Lawyer, and Threat ened the Police.

In the Essex Market Court to-day Justice Simms held an examination the case of Charles Krumm, proprietor alty campaign, and with that end in view President Alexander E. Orr called Chrystie street, who was arrested Sun-Robert Henry, of the Eldridge street station, on a charge of violating the Excise law.

Krumm was the principal witness against ex-Ward Detective Jeremiah S. Levy in his recent trial on the charge of bribery, and in which the jury disagreed. When Krumm was arraigned yesterday he demanded an examination, and it was set down for this morning. He cialmed that the arrest was made for spite, and that he was being annoyed by the police because he was a witness before the Lexow Committee. He said that the police were trying to prevent him from earning bread and butter for Krumm said to-day that he expected Assistant District-Attorney Osborne to Assistant District-Attorney Osborne to come to court and defend him, and when Mr. Osborne didn't come Krumm said that he would act as his own lawyer. Policemen Foster and Henry were then sworn and they testified to the statements already published, to the effect that they entered krumm's place shortly after 10 o'clock on Sunday night, and that they found twenty people in the saloon, seventeen men and three women. They found, they say, a glass of beer on the bar, which both tasted.

Krumm cross-examined the policemen night, and that they found twenty people in the saioon, seventeen men and three women. They found, they say, a glass of beer on the bar, which both tasted.

Krumm cross-examined the policemen and wanted them to admit that they doubted that it was beer, but the officers remained firm in their statements, Krumm then called his wife, "Bennie" Weiss, and Charles Schwenke, alias "Frenchy," as his witnesses. All three testified that the stuff the policemen tasted was weiss beer and not lager beer, Krumm is summing to the case.

entitle the Court to hold him.

"The police are persecuting me, and I wish to be protected from them," he she had intended to adopt it and bring I wish to be protected from them," he declared.

Justice Simms replied that the evidence before him was sufficient to head him for trial. He accordingly held him for trial. He accordingly held him for trial. He accordingly held him for trial and the action of the Grand Jury. Saloon-Keeper Hanson, of Rivington street and the Bowery, promptly went on his ball bond.

Krumm said he would prefer charges against the policemen before the Police Commissioners. He stated funriner that he would have a startling story to tell when he took the stand before the Lexow Committee again.
